Building Opportunities, Building Communities Conference

Following the success of the 2018 inaugural event, the Possability Research Institutes', Building Opportunities Building Communities Conference is on again from 13-14 November 2019.

A consumer-driven community sector, means practitioners with limited resources and time need to be innovative and exciting when it comes to providing client centred solutions to complex problems.

Organisations are experiencing growing demand for services and must provide evidenced-based outcomes, as well as value for money. Training and coaching to upskill the workforce has never been more critically important.

With some of the world's leading minds coming together at this conference to share their invaluable knowledge with professionals in the disability, out-of-home care and education sectors, Possability are excited to announce the first line up of speakers for this year's event.
